Radwa Ashour. Radwa Ashour (1946 - 2014) was a highly acclaimed Egyptian writer and scholar who after studying a BA and MA in Comparative Literature in Cairo, went on to do a PhD in the US in African-American Literature. As a university student in her native Cairo in the early 1970s, says Ashour, she'd found no one who considered writers in the African diaspora worthy of study.

About The Woman from Tantoura. Ruqayya was only thirteen when the Nakba came to her village in Palestine in 1948. The massacre in Tantoura drove her from her home and from everything she had ever known. She had not left her village before, but would never return. Now an old woman, Ruqayya looks back on a long life in exile, one that has taken her to Syria, Lebanon, the Gulf, and given her children and grandchildren.

The Woman from Tantoura: A novel from Palestine: Radwa ...
A historical family novel, Tantoura follows a Palestinian woman from pre-1948 through multiple exiles: in Lebanon, Egypt, and Dubai. Much of the novel's heartbreak — and despite herself, Ashour is excellent at heartbreak — is the mother's fraught relationship with her exiled children.

The Woman from Tantoura by Radwa Ashour. Posted on August 19, 2019. July 30, 2019. by clodge2013. Of all the novels I have read about older women this has aroused the strongest emotions in me. The woman, Ruqayya, 70, has held the grief of her family as well as her own suffering since she was 12. Ruqayya was born in a village that was claimed for the new state of Israel, and she and her family became victims of the Nakba, joined the Palestinian diaspora.
